Tips to handle Halloween:

1. If you need to estimate the carbohydrate content of straight sugar candies (suckers, jawbreakers, bubble gum, gummy candy or hard candy), a good ‘rule of thumb’ is to weigh it and use the gram weight to calculate the carbohydrate. 1 gram in weight is equal to 1 gram of carbohydrate. This is a close estimate. You will be within 1-2 grams.
2. Sort candy into treats and those which can be used to treat low blood sugars (Rockets, Skittles). Put in little bags and label with “equals 10g Carb” or “equals 15g Carb”.
